

Marta Fantová Argalášová Senior Associate

Marta Fantová Argalášová specialises in family law and inheritance law.

In family law, Marta focuses primarily on advising and representing clients in proceedings for the regulation of relationships with minors and in divorce proceedings, both at the stage of negotiating out-of-court settlement agreements and as part of representation in court. Marta advises clients on matrimonial property law, both from the perspective of prevention (regulation of the matrimonial property regime) and in the settlement of community property, including the cross-border element. In her practice she deals with issues related to domestic violence and comprehensive assistance to victims not only in divorce and custody proceedings.

In inheritance law, Marta advises on the structuring of inheritance succession, including the administration of the decedent's estate, represents clients in probate proceedings and inheritance disputes, and resolves issues related to sudden impairment of legal capacity.

Before joining HAVEL & PARTNERS in 2022, Marta worked for six years in a Prague law firm with general practice, where, besides her main specialisation, she focused on restitution law, in particular representing clients in proceedings for the replacement of the State's expression of will in the release of so-called replacement land to persons whose ancestors were deprived of land in the past, and also on cooperation on large-scale criminal cases, as well as civil litigation in all stages of court proceedings.
