

Jana Zapletalová Koláčková

Legal Expert

Jana Zapletalová Koláčková specialises in family law, and pharmaceutical and health law.

In family law Jana focuses primarily on advising and representing clients in proceedings for the arrangement of relations to minor children. She advises clients on setting up custody of minor children, contact of the non-resident parent or a close person with minor children, and maintenance for minors and adult children, both in negotiating out-of-court agreements and representing clients before courts. Jana also represents clients in the recovery of claims of unwed mothers, maintenance of (un)divorced spouses and children, and in other situations related to relationship breakdown. In this context, she also deals with issues related to the community property of the spouses, both its setting up and settlement.

In pharmaceutical and health law, Jana focuses primarily on the sectors of medicinal products, medical devices, cosmetics and healthcare services, interactions with healthcare professionals and organisations (compliance agenda), distribution, clinical trials, pricing and reimbursement regulation and advertising.

Prior to joining our law firm, she worked in the public sector - for almost two years in the Human Rights Section of the Office of the Czech Government, and during the first Czech Presidency of the EU Council as Deputy Minister for Human Rights. Subsequently, Jana worked for almost two years at the Supreme Administrative Court as an assistant judge and advisor to the analytical department. She then started working as an academic at the Judicial Academy, where she was responsible for the training of family law judges for more than 13 years.
